

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Section	Page
DEDICATION.....	ii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS.....	iii
LIST OF TABLES	viii
1 Prolific Peripheries: By Way of Introduction	1
1.1 Locality Conditions	1
1.1.1 Movement and Locality.....	2
1.1.2 Construal and Locality.....	7
1.1.3 Local Summary	9
1.2 Minimalist Inquisitions	12
1.2.1 The Structure of the Grammar	12
1.2.2 The Computational System.....	14
1.2.3 Conditions on the Derivation	17
1.2.4 Some Terminological Conventions	20
1.3 Lay of the Land	21
1.3.1 Theory and Practice.....	21
1.3.2 Chapter 2: Anti-Locality.....	22
1.3.3 Chapter 3: Copy Spell Out.....	23
1.3.4 Chapter 4: Left Dislocation.....	25
1.3.5 Chapter 5: Wh-Questions.....	28
1.3.6 Chapter 6: Interfaces.....	31
2 Anti-Locality: Prolific Domains and Exclusivity	33
2.1 Introduction	33
2.2 Anti-Locality	34
2.2.1 Anti-Locality in Theta Dependencies.....	35
2.2.2 Anti-Locality in Agreement Dependencies	42
2.2.3 Anti-Locality in Discourse Dependencies	46
2.2.4 Summary	53

2.3	Towards a Theory of Anti-Locality	53
2.3.1	Prolific Domains	54
2.3.2	Exclusivity	58
2.4	On the Internal Architecture of Prolific Domains.....	65
2.4.1	The θ -Domain	65
2.4.2	The ϕ -Domain	69
2.4.3	The ω -Domain.....	75
2.4.4	Summary	77
2.5	Conclusion	77
3	Copy Spell Out: X'-Theory, Prolific Domains and Local Anaphoricity.....	79
3.1	Introduction	79
3.2	(Bare) Phrase Structure: An Empirical and Theoretical Intermezzo.....	80
3.2.1	Adjuncts vs. Specifiers	81
3.2.2	X'-Structure Considerations	82
3.2.3	On the Interpretability of Agr	86
3.2.3.1	Setting the stage.....	87
3.2.3.2	Raising into an uninterpretable specifier?.....	91
3.2.3.3	Passivization.....	92
3.2.3.4	Transitive Expletive Constructions	93
3.2.3.5	Some concepts and consequences	94
3.2.4	Phrase Structure and natural Relations: Specifiers vs. Adjuncts	97
3.2.4.1	X'-structure and "invisibility".....	97
3.2.4.2	X'-structure and natural relations.....	100
3.2.4.3	X'-structure and checking configurations.....	102
3.2.4.4	X'-structure and licensing conditions.....	107
3.3	Interim Summary	108
3.4	Exclusivity: Derivational Reflexivization and Copy Spell Out.....	112
3.4.1	Completing the CDE	113
3.4.2	A Derivational Approach to Reflexivization	116
3.4.2.1	The rule of reflexivization.....	116
3.4.2.2	A derivational approach to local reflexives	118
3.4.2.3	Reciprocals.....	120
3.4.3	Exclusivity and Anaphors.....	122
3.4.3.1	Derivational reflexivization and Copy Spell Out in the θ - domain	123
3.4.3.2	A brief comparison	128
3.4.3.3	Reflexive ECM-subjects	132
3.4.3.4	Inherent reflexives	134
3.4.3.5	Double object constructions and other puzzles	136
3.4.3.6	Reflexive or reciprocal: A preliminary note on "default fillers"	139
3.5	Conclusion	142

4	Left Dislocation Constructions: Movement vs. Construal and Copy Spell Out.....	145
4.1	Introduction	145
4.2	Some Properties of Left Dislocation Constructions.....	146
4.2.1	Three Types of Left Dislocation	147
4.2.2	Topicalization vs. (Hanging Topic) Left Dislocation: Some Basic Properties	149
4.2.3	More on Topicalization: Derivational History.....	151
4.2.4	Topicalization vs. HTLD, Again: Movement vs. Construal.....	153
4.2.5	How Contrastive and Clitic Left Dislocation Fit in	157
4.2.5.1	Contrastive Left Dislocation vs. Topicalization.....	158
4.2.5.2	Contrastive vs. Hanging Topic Left Dislocation.....	161
4.2.5.3	Contrastive vs. Clitic Left Dislocation	173
4.2.6	Summary	175
4.3	Copy Spell Out in the ω -Domain.....	176
4.3.1	Exclusivity: Towards a Derivational Analysis.....	177
4.3.2	A Comparative Analysis.....	181
4.3.3	CLD vs. HTLD Revisited	183
4.3.3.1	Structural implications for HTLD	184
4.3.3.2	CLD and HTLD in interaction: Specifiers and adjuncts, once again!	184
4.3.4	LD and Selection.....	188
4.3.5	Summary	193
4.4	A Derivational Approach to Clitic Left Dislocation	194
4.4.1	Movement vs. Construal in CLLD	194
4.4.2	CLLD vs. CLD: A Difference in Prolific Domains	197
4.4.3	Copy Spell Out in the ϕ -Domain.....	199
4.5	Discussion of Left Dislocation Constructions and Copy Spell Out.....	208
4.6	Conclusion	214
5	(Multiple) Wh-Question Formation: Movement, Interpretation and Typology	215
5.1	Introduction	215
5.2	Three Types of (Multiple) Wh-Question Formation.....	216
5.2.1	A Brief Overview of Wh-Questions.....	217
5.2.2	Multiple Wh-Questions: Zero, Singular and Multiple Wh-Movement?.....	218
5.2.3	Clause Typing and Q.....	222
5.3	A Tripartite Typology	227
5.3.1	Pair List vs. Single Pair Readings	228
5.3.2	A Typological Tripartition.....	235
5.3.3	A Basic Semantics for Questions and the Role of Q.....	240

5.3.4	The Syntax of Q, Prolific Domains and Anti-Locality.....	245
5.3.4.1	Zero Wh-movement languages	245
5.3.4.2	Singular Wh-movement languages.....	250
5.3.4.3	Interlude: German.....	252
5.3.4.4	Multiple Wh-movement languages	255
5.4	German = Bulgarian: Multiple Wh-Movement	257
5.4.1	German as a Multiple Wh-Fronting Language	257
5.4.2	Quantifier Interaction	259
5.4.3	Topicalizability	262
5.4.4	Adverb Placement	265
5.4.5	Summary	267
5.5	German = Italian: Categorical Absence of Multiple Wh-Questions?	268
5.5.1	Discourse-Restricted Quantification	268
5.5.2	Italian Wh-Questions.....	270
5.5.3	Speculations: Discussion, Consequences and Predictions.....	275
5.6	Conclusion	279
6	Picking up the Pieces: A Radical View from the Left	281
6.1	Prolific Domains: The Framework.....	281
6.2	Syntax at the Interfaces: A Sketch	284
6.3	Exclusivity, (Anti-)Locality and Cyclicity	292
6.4	Concluding Remarks	300
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	301

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Section	Page
TABLE 1	236
TABLE 2	239